

CERTIFICATE IN ONE HEALTH PROGRAM

ROSS UNIVERSITY
SCHOOL OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO FACT SHEET

WHAT WILL I LEARN AND EXPERIENCE IN MY STUDIES?

The course-based Certificate in One Health program is designed to equip veterinarians, animal scientists, medical and biological scientists with an in-depth understanding of the principles of, and issues associated with, One Health, and consists of 15 credit hours, which can be completed in either 2 years (6 semesters) or 3 years (9 semesters) option. The Certificate in One Health is designed to provide working knowledge of One Health concepts that can be used to enhance careers in a broad range of environments. Participants will employ intellectual skills in scientific assessment as well as practical skills in communication, organization and scientific writing.

Upon successful completion of the certificate, participants will have gained knowledge in the disciplines relevant to the broad field of One Health including and be able to employ a systems approach to addressing issues within human, animal and environmental health. Upon completing the Certificate in One Health, students should be confident leaders and advocates of One Health in their current and future positions.

For more information about the Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine Certificate in One Health program, see: <https://veterinary.rossu.edu/admissions/certificate-in-one-health/curriculum>

WHAT SERVICES WILL I RECEIVE?

Services available to all students include:

- Assistance with student visa application, accommodation, private study area and island orientation to students locating to St. Kitts.
- All students have access to Health and wellness services available through the Student Health Services Office and Counseling Center, including online/telephone support services.
- Academic support through an appointed Lead Supervisor and Progress Monitoring Committee, and access to resources provided by the Student Success Center.

PROGRAM COSTS AND FINANCING OPTIONS

Tuition cost for the Certificate in One Health program is $4,500. Other required costs include housing fees and average estimated textbook and equipment expenses.

Financial aid is not available for the Certificate in One Health program, the following payment options are available:

- Full payment at time of enrollment
- Private loan through bank
- Installment payment plan

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT THE KNOW BEFORE YOU GO FACT SHEET

How relevant is this information to me? The Know Before You Go Fact Sheet provides information about Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine. The Fact Sheet information is intended to help you compare some information about Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine to other colleges as you think about your choices.

INFORMATION SOURCES

Program Costs: This is the total tuition for a student attending full time who takes and passes every course currently required by the program at Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine a single time at the current tuition rate. Health insurance, housing fees, and average estimated textbook and equipment expenses are not included in the program cost.